
Caslon Doric Condensed

The condensed sans is one of the most useful styles; it allows the printer and designer to make letters as large as possible in the smallest horizontal space. With flat sided shapes, letters virtually touch each other, creating the densest black with minimal interior counter shapes. Appearing in the early 1830s, virtually all British foundries, including Caslon, made all capital variants in the following decade, with only Thorowgood making a lowercase version. Caslon Doric Condensed takes the original Doric style and merges it with the condensed style with lowercase that Caslon started to cut in the final quarter of the century, with its distinctive hook like and angled terminals. With ten weights from hairline to black with a distinctive angled italic, it is a highly useful characterful condensed sans.

ABOUT THE DESIGNERS

Paul Barnes (born 1970) is a graphic and type designer, and a partner with Christian Schwartz in Commercial Type, a type foundry based in London and New York. He has also been a long term collaborator with Peter Saville which has resulted in such diverse work as identities for Givenchy, 'Original Modern' for Manchester, the England football team kit and the logo for Kate Moss.

Barnes has also been an advisor and consultant on numerous publications, notably *Wallpaper, Harper's Bazaar and frieze. His interest in the modern and vernacular is encompassed in his type design ranging from the contemporary such as for Björk, through to the extensive Chiswick typeface (2017). Whilst consultant to The Guardian he designed Guardian Egyptian with Christian Schwartz. He has designed typefaces for the National Trust in England, the numbers for Puma at the 2010 World Cup and also the England football team for Umbro. For Commercial Type he has codesigned Publico with Schwartz, and independently Austin, Dala Floda and Marian.

Following the redesign of The Guardian, as part of the team headed by Mark Porter, Barnes was awarded the Black Pencil from the D&AD. They were also nominated for the Design Museum 'Designer of the Year'. In September 2006, with Schwartz he was named one of the 40 most influential designers under 40 in *Wallpaper. A year later The Guardian named him as one of the 50 best designers in Britain.

Tim Ripper (born 1986) studied physics at Amherst College and worked in educational publishing in China before obtaining an MFA in graphic design from the Yale School of Art. At Yale, he discovered a passion for type design through a class with Tobias Frere-Jones and Matthew Carter, and was a designer at Frere-Jones Type before joining Commercial in 2016. Tim has also worked at Fathom Information Design and independently as a freelance graphic designer and developer.
