GOAL

20 Mil Léguas Submarinas

Bold 56 pt, Português

The year 1866 was signalized by a remarkable incident, a mysterious and inexplicable phenomenon, which doubtless no one has yet forgotten. Not to mention rumors which agitated the maritime population, and excited the public mind, even in the interior of continents, seafaring men were particularly excited.

Medium 22 pt, English

Kaufleute, Reeder, Schiffskapitäne, Skipper und Master in Europa und Amerika, Offiziere der Kriegsmarine aller Länder und schließlich die Regierungen der einflussreichen Staaten beider Kontinente nahmen die Vorfälle au-ßerordentlich ernst. Seit einiger Zeit schon waren mehrere Schiffe auf hoher See „einem gigantischen Etwas“ begegnet, einem langen, spindelförmigen Gegenstand, der bisweilen phosphoreszierte und weitaus größer und schneller war als ein Wal.

Regular 15 pt, Italic 16 pt, Deutsch

Los hechos relativos a estas apariciones, consignados en los diferentes libros de a bordo, coincidían con bastante exactitud en lo referente a la estructura del objeto o del ser en cuestión, a la excepcional velocidad de sus movimientos, a la sorprendente potencia de su locomoción y a la particular vitalidad de que parecía dotado. De tratarse de un cetáceo, superaba en volumen a todos cuantos especímenes de este género había clasificado la ciencia hasta entonces. Ni Cuvier, ni Lacepède, ni Dumeril ni Quatrefages hubieran admitido la existencia de tal monstruo, a menos de haberlo visto por sus propios ojos de sabios.

Regular 11.5 pt, Español

À prendre la moyenne des observations faites à diverses reprises, — en rejetant les évaluations timides qui assignaient à cet objet une longueur de deux cents pieds, et en repoussant les opinions exagérées qui le disaient large d'un mille et long de trois, — on pouvait affirmer, cependant, que cet être phénoménal dépassait de beaucoup toutes les dimensions admises jusqu'à ce jour par les ichthyologistes, — s'il existait toutefois. Or, il existait, le fait en lui-même n'était plus niable, et, avec ce penchant qui pousse au merveilleux la cervelle humaine, on comprendra l'émotion produite dans le monde entier par cette surnaturelle apparition. Quant à la rejeter au rang des fables, il fallait y renoncer.

All of Felix Braden's typefaces have a name that is related to water. Turbine follows the aquatic theme but draws upon the more technical and mechanical aspects associated with water.

In naming this typeface, the designer from Cologne emphasizes its technical prowess and properties. The superelliptical curves (a mixture of ellipse and rectangle, also known as Lamé curve), the wide proportions, the minimal contrast and the tight spacing result in a cool appearance that is highly recognizable. It makes Turbine the perfect fit for corporate design projects and advertising campaigns, especially for clients working in engineering, technological or pharmaceutical industries.

The fine geometric feature has often been applied in architecture, urban planning, product and interior design and its application exudes a friendly, approachable appearance. And here, in Turbine it comes into play. This type of design became particularly popular in the 60s and 70s, and this look and feel spills over into Turbine, giving it a little bit of a retro feel. However, less 'retro' in the nostalgic sense and more in the futuristic and confidence-inspiring sense, because its suitability for the here and now is without question.

The very open forms of this Neo-Grotesque achieve a significantly higher legibility and elegance compared to older typefaces of this type. Turbine's preferred partners are slab serifs, especially Clarendon-like ones such as Bookman, Sentinel or Pulpo. But also narrow-running sans-serifs like Ika Compact are a suitable counterpart to our technical-looking Turbine.

Fictitious use-case designed by Felix Braden

DESIGNER

Felix Braden

The Greek philosopher Thales pronounced: “The principle of all things is water; everything is made of water, and everything returns to water.”

Cologne-based designer Felix Braden also appreciates and recognizes the beauty and importance of the wettest element. His own foundry Floodfonts and almost all of his fonts have a reference to water. His veritable typographic aquarium includes fonts with names such as: Pulpo, Kontiki, Capri, Tuna, FF Scuba, Bikini or Moby. His latest typeface Turbine also fittingly means the rotating turbomachine of a hydropower plant.

In terms of design, Felix's typefaces have also been very well received. His typeface FF Scuba was recognized in the Communication Arts Typography Annual in 2013 and his typeface Kontiki was nominated for the German Design Award in 2019.

Felix Braden works full-time as an Art Director at MWK Cologne and was responsible, among other things, for the corporate design of Malteser International and the logo design of the Romano Germanic Museum. Previously, he co-founded Glashaus Design and worked with Jens Gehlhaar at Gaga Design. Felix studied Communication Design at Trier University with Prof. Andreas Hogan.

In his free time, rather than pushing pens he sometimes likes to push balls, because he is a passionate boules player. When the weather is not so good, he emulates his role model Rian Hughes and draws illustrations. If he wants a little more excitement, he loves to go to indie and alternative rock concerts.

File Formats and Licensing

All our typefaces are provided in OTF (OpenType fonts with PostScript outlines; usually used for desktop, apps, ebooks, and hardware) and WOFF2 (Web Open Font Format; OpenType fonts for the use on the web) formats. Most other formats such as EOT, SVG, WOFF or TTF are not necessary anymore today. However, we can generate those files in case they are really needed.

We believe we have one of the simplest licensing models in the industry. If we were sitting in the pub, we could draw it out on a beer mat. It's hard enough to find the right font, so we want to make the licensing as simple as possible. What does this mean? No drop-down-menus, just a LICENSE IN ONE CLICK. You pay just once and that's that as long as you keep within the boundaries of use as stated in the License.

Please check our website www.fontwerk.com/licensing for further information.

TRIAL The 'Trial Fonts' contain around ¾ of the actual characters and usually no OpenType features. The license allows free use during the test phase. Both desktop and webfonts are included

Pairing Suggestions

Romaine

A shockingly modern 450 year old. Designed by Aad van Dommelen based on a typeface by Robert Granjon. Our one and only – but highly necessary – revival.

Ika Compact

For the strongest statements in the smallest space. Designed by Jörg Hemker as part of a superfamily along with Ika. The ideal symbiosis of American grotesque and classic European sans.
